Phoebe

Romans 16:1-2

“I commend to you our sister Phoebe, a servant of the church in Cenchrea. I ask you to receive her in the Lord in a way worthy of the saints and to give her any help she may need from you, for she has been a great help to many people, including me.”

Women played a vital role in both the ministry of Paul and in the work within the local congregation. Nympha, for example, hosted the Laodicean church in her house (Colossians 4:15).

In Romans 16 we are introduced to the Christian woman, Phoebe. In the few sentences used to describe her, we learn a lot about her important place in the Christian community. Cenchrea was located on the Corinthian Peloponnese opposite Corinth on the Aegean Sea. Paul calls her a sister, a servant and a great help.

Sister:

We first take note that Paul refers to Phoebe as his sister. Phoebe was a Christian and a participant in the beautiful familial relationships that are a part of belonging to the household of faith. The brother-sister egalitarian relationship in Christ, i.e., all children of God, is spoken of by John: “1 John 3:1: How great is the love the Father has lavished on us, that we should be called children of God! And that is what we are!”

Servant:

Most impressive in Paul’s description of Phoebe is his reference to her as a servant or deaconess. Scholars have suggested that Phoebe’s servanthood included delivering Paul’s epistle to the Roman Christian church. It is beautiful to see Phoebe taking to heart the words of Jesus, “The greatest among you will be your servant” (Matthew 23:11). Whether on an official servant mission or simply serving in her local congregation, Phoebe’s servitude inspires us to do the same.

Great Help:

NIV 84 says Phoebe ‘has been a great help’ to many. In the original Greek Paul says Phoebe is a προστάτις (prostatis), which means a patroness or protectress. Paul’s choice of this word means that she most likely was a woman of means, and she used her wealth to support the growing church, inviting Paul and his companions to stay with her. Other English translations say Phoebe was a succourer of many (KJV), a benefactor (Holman, NIV 2010) a helper (NASB) and a patron (ESV).

At the end of this process, the Elders will return to the congregation with a list of men for final consideration. Please continue to pray that strongly committed servants will be found.
