Heaven

Fans of country music no doubt have already heard cuts of Luke Combs new album “Fathers and Sons”. If you haven’t listened to the album (available on YouTube) or if you’re not a country fan but do enjoy good songwriting, I’d highly recommend it. The song “Ride Around Heaven” tells of a young boy who falls asleep one night and dreams his grandfather, who has passed away, picks him up in his truck and drives him around heaven while having the most wonderful conversation. The song caught my attention because I had a similar dream shortly after the death of my maternal grandfather.

As we get older, heaven starts to fill up with more and more Christian friends and loved ones we know. It’s natural that our thoughts dwell on what they are seeing and experiencing right now as we all wait on resurrection day. Paul wrote to the Thessalonian church twice about the subject. In 1 Thessalonians 4:13-18 he encourages the church and says that we will be “caught up together with them in the clouds to meet the Lord”. I’m looking forward to all of it, especially the together part.
