The Time is Now Here

This is the second of six articles on the Minor Prophet Book, Haggai

Consider Your Ways

Life is complicated. With busy schedules, high expectations, and challenging relationships, unhealthy desires, bitter feelings, and poor self-esteem, life is a struggle. Add to that things like bullying, gossiping, rivalries, and grudges that trouble us, and life becomes very complex. You might wonder, “When will it all line up the way it should be?” (aka: get all my ducks in a row) Or maybe you have your own pity party: “Will I ever catch a break?!” We might not mean for them to affect us, but life’s difficulties can divert our attention away from God.

On Haggai 1:1-6

God sent Haggai to encourage the people of Jerusalem as they struggled to make sense of their problems. They were evidently preoccupied with life’s problems. They were working hard, but with little to see from it. They had food, water, and clothing, but never enough. They couldn’t find happiness. So, they put off building the temple. They said, “The time is not now.” Instead of coming together to restore God as their center, they pushed aside God so they could build their own houses.

Haggai encouraged them to rethink their situation. Perhaps the reason why they had no relief was because they were looking for peace in the things they thought they could control instead of God.

Family News

Maybe that's a struggle for you too. When you're pre-occupied with the burdens of life and trying to control the outcome, God gets pushed aside, and the work of "building your temple" goes nowhere. We can't expect life to line up perfectly, but when we center Jesus, we find peace when things are beyond our control.

"You can have faith and you can have control, but you can't have both." (Daniel Hart)

Thank You

Dear 6th Grade & Under,

Thank yo so much for your delicious "Sweetheart Dinner." It was a special treat for all of us. And we had the best waiters & waitresses ever!!!

You made us feel very special and you were such a joy. You made Jesus so happy, too!

Love, David & Barb Kernodle

God answered our prayers!

Spring Martin received news from her doctor that the latest PET scan showed NO CANCER.

Thank you all for your prayers.
