GOODBYE

On our recent mission trip to Honduras my ears became accustomed to hearing the familiar Spanish farewell “Adiós.” As one attempting to learn the language, I decided to ask a first-language Spanish speaker if he knew the meaning of the word. [Since “Dios” is the Spanish word for God, is “A-Dios” a Godly blessing?] After a pause, the man told me that he had never thought about it. It was simply the word for “farewell”. I was a little disappointed. Later, in my own research, I discovered that “Adiós” is indeed a Godly blessing: “A” (to) and “Dios” (God). “I commend you to God” is the expanded meaning. Unfortunately, the original meaning has been forgotten. But what about our own farewell word, “Goodbye”?

Goodbye, or just “bye”, contains all sorts of hidden surprises for the linguist, but also for us Christians. You may know this already, but in my experience, most people in fact do not know that “Goodbye!” is a contraction of God be with you. The first part (“God”) quite quickly became ‘good’ because it stood alongside such common phrases as good morning, good evening and the (now) rather old-fashioned good day. Then, by natural development, and because it was said so often, the second part (‘be with you’) changed to ‘be wi’ ye’ giving God be wi ye (late 14th Century), and then (in the 16th century) went through forms such as God be wy you, God b’you, God buoye and even God buy. Finally, as from about 1590, the word settled itself down into our present day Goodbye. Like the Spanish word “Adiós” our English equivalent “Goodbye” has lost its original Godly blessing. I am equally disappointed.

Although I cannot change the modern understanding of our Goodbye farewell, I can, in my heart, say farewell to others with the original meaning in mind: “Goodbye”: “God be with you.”

Goodbye,
Stephen Powers

Announcements

Golden Years 55 AND UP GROUP

The Golden Years have Potluck dinners
the first Tuesday of every month @10:30-12:30.
The other Tuesdays, the Golden Years meet for donuts, coffee, Bible study, and fellowship @ 10-11:30

We are beginning heart groups again. Because last year was an abbreviated year, we will be keeping the existing groups in place. We want to take the opportunity to invite any new women to participate. If you would like to be in the Heart Sisters or Heart Wings group, please fill out a form on the foyer table by Sunday, Aug. 21 and hand it in to an elder's wife or to the office. If you have any questions about the groups or where you would best fit, please contact any elder's wife.
