ISSUE NO. 1

I AM

God said to Moses, 'I AM Who I AM.'
This is what you are to say to the Israelites:
'I AM has sent me to you.' (Exodus 3:14)

When God revealed himself to Moses in the burning bush, he said “I AM”. Scholars and translators have struggled to convey the fullness of this statement from a language (Hebrew/Semitic) which expresses basic concepts differently from Greek and English. Not only is God stating that his Name and Presence are beyond the confines of a label, He is making a statement that He is eternal, He is present, He is the future, He is all. God reminds Moses that He is the God of their Covenant: the one He made with Abraham. God is faithful and even in the midst of 400 years of Egyptian suffering, He is Present, He is Faithful, and He will always be faithful.

In the New Testament, when challenged by the Jews, Jesus reaches back into the Old Testament and makes the same claim about himself. God is past, God is present, God is future, God is Me. Further, the Jews of the Old Testament were God’s chosen people and God promises Moses that He will always be with them (subject to obedience). So, in the New Testament when Jesus says, “I tell you the truth, before Abraham was born, I AM!”, the message is one of God’s faithfulness - I was with you before Abraham, with you through Abraham and with you always into the future. It is a dynamic presence, not bound by time. In other words, “I am here with you now, fulfilling my (i.e. God’s) promise.”

In John 18:5-6, at Jesus’ arrest in the garden prior to his passion, Jesus once again reaches back into the Old Testament when identifying himself: “I AM.” [NIV translators added the word “he” but it is not in the original text.] All those present “drew back and fell to the ground” (John 18:6). It is fitting that the arresting soldiers and officials reacted powerfully to Jesus' use of this God-marking identifier. Even while coming with the authority of the Chief Priest to arrest Jesus, the arresters respond to the authority of Jesus, although involuntarily. Even when Jesus seems powerless, John presents Jesus as powerful, in control, unfolding world events according to his divine will.

In the coming weeks, we will consider Jesus' great I AM statements and marvel at our Immanuel: God With Us.
