

We are having services at the church Sunday's @ 10 am If you would prefer, we are still doing the online stream of the service @ 10 am and a Bible study @ 11am.
Our Wednesday service will be at 6:30 at Northside only

Worshipping Together

Northside will meet at 10 am Sunday mornings. We will stream the service live on FB and Steve will do a Bible study afterward at 11 am. Wednesday's service will remain online.

"Due to the present health crisis. If you plan to attend, we ask you to read the Arkansas State Health Dept. guidelines @ <https://www.healthy.arkansas.gov/programs-services/topics/covid-19-guidance-for-faith-based-organizations> & do your best to comply with these guidelines."

There will be only two doorways for entry and exit. These will be the main doorway facing Walnut Street and the breezeway door that accesses the lower parking lot. The doorway at the front of the auditorium will be for emergency exiting only. No childcare will be provided at this time and we ask that you do not enter the educational wing of the building. Please strive to maintain 6 feet distancing between family groups as you enter and exit the building. Due to the physical distancing guidelines, you may be asked to sit away from your usual area of the auditorium so that there is room for everyone. If there is a need for overflow seating, this will be provided in the fellowship building with a livestream of our worship there. There will be elders and deacons to assist you with entry, seating and exiting worship.

Individual communion packets can be picked up in the foyer as you enter the building. Offering plates will be available for giving in the foyer as you exit. If you have existing health problems or are over 65 years of age, then group worship may put your health at risk. If you have questions about this, please consult with your healthcare provider to see if attendance is safe for you at this time. We will continue to live stream our worship service for those who need to remain at home for now.

ISSUE NO. 36

When I was 12, I remember hearing hubbub in the news about a treaty signing that involved the Panama Canal. The headlines piqued my interest and, taking the “P” volume of our World Book Encyclopedia (pre-internet era, ahem) off the shelf, I began to read. The Panama Canal, I learned, was an amazing and costly feat of human ingenuity that forever changed the face of seafaring travel.

When you look at the map of the Americas, it makes eminent sense to cut through the thinnest part of the landmass and join the Atlantic Ocean (the Caribbean Sea) to the Pacific Ocean - thus avoiding the long and dangerous journey down to the south of Argentina/Chile and back north again, as well as the navigation of the Strait of Magellan at Tierra del Fuego. BUT, and it is a very big but, cutting through the isthmus of Panama meant coming to terms with a very hot and humid climate, thick jungle inhabited by dangerous animals, including poisonous snakes, spiders and mosquitoes - the latter of which spread malaria and yellow fever. At one time the French company that was building the canal between 1881 and 1894 was losing up to 200 men per month. The French had been engaged to build the canal on the territory of Colombia (Panama was a region of that country at that time) because of their success with the Suez Canal. The weather conditions and the intense tropical storms doomed the French project though, and it was eventually taken over by the USA in 1903 under President Roosevelt. The project was completed in 1914, costing $500 million (equivalent to $13 billion in today’s money) and the first ship crossed from ocean to ocean on 15th August of that year; but not before the region of Panama had broken away from Colombia and become a separate country in 1903, and the Canal Zone, administered by the USA, had been set up to control the canal and its safe operation (a situation that lasted until 1979, when the Canal Zone was returned to the new country of Panama). The narrow and straight canal is 51 miles long, and runs northwest-southeast across the isthmus, crossing several lakes, and involving three sets of locks to cope with the 85-ft difference in water height incorporated in the construction design to provide the necessary water flow for the whole canal.

Narrow is the Way

Like the Panama Canal, the way of righteousness is also narrow and straight. Pointing to this truth, Jesus said, "Enter by the narrow gate. For the gate is wide and the way is easy that leads to destruction, and those who enter by it are many. For the gate is narrow and the way is hard that leads to life, and those who find it are few" (Matthew 7:13-14 ESV). The most alarming part of Jesus' statement is "those who find it are few". This truth elicits several emotions in the Christian. First is the emotion of thankfulness that we have found what so few find. Second is the emotion of urgency that time is running out for people to find the narrow way. May we consider our role in helping others find and navigate the narrow way that leads to life. After all, the way of righteousness is fraught with spiritual dangers (mosquitoes, snakes and wild animals) waiting to devour spiritual wayfarers.
