No. 26

June 24, 2020

June 21 is the longest day of the year in our hemisphere. Long gone are the dark mornings and evenings of winter. Replacing them are the bright early mornings and the late summer evenings. Now, at the Summer Solstice, the birds are in full form at 5:15 a.m. and give their grand finale around 9:30 at night.

As a geography enthusiast, I enjoy looking on Google Maps, exploring the various regions of the world. I particularly enjoy timeanddate.com/sun where I can explore the sunrise and sunset time of any location on earth. Within the Arctic Circle the sun never sets in June. In the same area the sun never rises in December. The length of day in the Arctic circle changes as much as 45 minutes a day at some points during the year.

The summer solstice occurs twice each year, once in each hemisphere. For us in the third week of June, and for those in the Southern Hemisphere in the third week of December. The solstice corresponds to the maximum amount of daylight - for us here in Harrison, that means 14 hours and 40 minutes (compare with our shortest day, in December, six months later, when daylight is 9 hours 40 minutes). This difference of 5 hours is due to the tilt of the earth, as it revolves around the sun.

The summer solstice is thought of as either the middle of summer, in some cultures, or as the beginning of it. In central Sweden, for example, with almost 20.5 hours of daylight, the Midsummer celebrations are as important as Christmas! Have you ever experienced a Christmas in the southern hemisphere? Imagine a BBQ on the beach on 25 December, with Father Christmas sweating it out in red fur and a long white beard with the temperature in the 90s! Northerners, like us, find the southern summer Christmas alarming, to say the least.

Pre-Christian cultures were very much influenced by the sun - understandably as their very survival depended on keeping warm enough, and safe enough. And for us, Jesus is the Light of the World, shining in the cold darkness of the permanent season of winter without him. For us, the changes in daylight between now and the short winter days happen very slowly: moving only a few seconds or minutes per day. The change is so gradual that it is almost imperceptible.

Sin can be this way in our lives. Small changes in our attitudes towards worldliness can creep into our lives, nearly undetected. Paul urged Timothy, “Watch your life and doctrine closely. Persevere in them, because if you do, you will save both yourself and your hearers” (1 Timothy 4:16). Let’s guard our hearts against the imperceptible influence of the world and watch our lives and doctrine closely.

NEWS & EVENTS

WORSHIPING TOGETHER

Northside will meet at 10 am Sunday mornings. We will stream the service live on FB and Steve will do a Bible study afterward at 11 am. Wednesday's service will remain online.

Due to the present health crisis. If you plan to attend, we ask you to read the Arkansas State Health Dept. guidelines that are on the back of the bulletin and do your best to comply with these guidelines.

There will be only two doorways for entry and exit. These will be the main doorway facing Walnut Street and the breezeway door that accesses the lower parking lot. The doorway at the front of the auditorium will be for emergency exiting only. No childcare will be provided at this time and we ask that you do not enter the educational wing of the building. Please strive to maintain 6 feet distancing between family groups as you enter and exit the building. Due to the physical distancing guidelines, you may be asked to sit away from your usual area of the auditorium so that there is room for everyone. If there is a need for overflow seating, this will be provided in the fellowship building with a livestream of our worship there. There will be elders and deacons to assist you with entry, seating and exiting worship.

Individual communion packets can be picked up in the foyer as you enter the building. Offering plates will be available for giving in the foyer as you exit.

If you have existing health problems or are over 65 years of age, then group worship may put your health at risk. If you have questions about this, please consult with your healthcare provider to see if attendance is safe for you at this time. We will continue to live stream our worship service for those who need to remain at home for now.

"STRAIGHT OUT OF QUARANTINE" Retreat

7TH & UP All Teens are invited to this Teen Summer Retreat, which will be Sunday, July 26-July 30 here at Northside. See Jason for details.
