THOMAS

Other than his name being mentioned in the list of the 12 apostles, Thomas appears several other places in the pages of scripture. Unfortunately for Thomas, his reputation has been forever overshadowed by his doubtful failure to believe in the risen Christ. Most statues and paintings depict Thomas as a suspiciously doubtful person. This is regrettable, overreaching, and very likely untrue.

In John 11:6, on Jesus' last journey to Jerusalem prior to his crucifixion, Thomas said to the rest of the disciples, "Let us also go, that we may die with him." This hardly fits the description of a weak and doubtful figure of a man.

John 14:5 finds Thomas inquiring about The Passion events when he asked, "Lord, we don't know where you are going, so how can we know the way?" Thomas' question prompts one of the most beloved scriptures of all time: "I am the way and the truth and the life. No one comes to the Father except through me" (John 14:6).

In John 20:28, the finally convinced Thomas makes a remarkable confession of Jesus as the Son of God when he exclaims, "My Lord and my God!"

Finally, Thomas is found among the disciples by the Sea of Galilee when Jesus reinstated Peter and produced the miraculous catch of fish.

History tells us that Thomas traveled far beyond the boundaries of the Roman Empire. Many Christians believe Thomas to have been in India - this tradition states that in 52 AD he arrived in Kerala (Southern India) and founded seven communities there, leaving behind elders and deacons, in the same way as Paul did on his missionary journeys. There can be no doubt of the great antiquity of the baptism of many families in India's southern state - even if this was not performed by Thomas himself. Tradition has it that Thomas was martyred near Madras (modern day Chennai) on India's east coast in 72 AD. Between these dates some maintain that Thomas traveled as far as China, baptizing as he went.

Separately from this, on another continent, in South America, a local tradition has Thomas preaching to the Guarani tribes in Paraguay. In the 17th Century, Jesuit missionaries to Paraguay noted: The Paraguayan tribes have a very curious tradition. They claim that a very holy man (Thomas the Apostle himself), whom they call "Paí Thome", lived amongst them and preached to them the Holy Truth, wandering and carrying a wooden cross on his back.

A further tradition mentions Thomas traveling from India to Indonesia with Indian trading vessels and establishing Christian bases wherever the traders landed.

Whatever the truth, Thomas is credited with spreading the gospel both east and west - perhaps in an effort to make up for his initial doubts about the risen Christ. Out of "Seeing is believing" he made a new truth: "Believing is acting for Christ".
