ISSUE NO. 30

"In your anger do not sin:
Do not let the sun go down while you are still angry,
and do not give the devil a foothold" (Ephesians 4:26-27).

Anger

Anger is inherent to the human condition. It exists, whether we like it or not, and it is not, in itself, destructive or bad - even though this may often seem to be the case. What is bad is what the angry person may do, how he reacts and the consequences unbridled anger have on others. From a physiological point of view, anger primes the body for flight and/or fight: concentration is sharpened, muscles are prepared, senses are all readied for action. Anger is caused by various triggers (threats to self or to a loved one, perceived injustice, frustration at rules and regulations, feeling rejected or humiliated, etc.) The reaction of anger is often increased by stress, lack of sleep or anything else that reduces emotional control. Some people are just more prone to anger than others.

The Bible tells us that if anger is allowed to grow into bitterness, hostility or prejudice-fired aggression, then serious consequences will too easily follow. Paul repeats Jesus' teaching that one must regain a balanced sense of calm as quickly as possible and try for reconciliation - the Bible adding that before sundown is best. As Christians we are to forgive those who trespass against us, and we must make every effort to love our neighbors and also our enemies, trying to understand them. Anger will always exist, but we must deal with it in a Christ-like manner.

Do Not Sin

Since unchecked anger destroys churches, destroys relationships and destroys Christian influence, the way the Christian manages anger is vital. Paul teaches that it IS possible to be angry and not sin. One way this is accomplished is by not carrying anger over to the next day. Anger is best diffused by taking care of it today, before going to bed, before the anger festers into resentment, grudges, and bitterness. We all know churches that have had splits, marriages that have broken up, and feuds that have gone on for years, all because of anger. Paul says that Christians seeking to live in God's light will deal with their anger today rather than let it continue. Be angry, yes. But do not let anger lead to sin.

Satan

The foothold imagery is an interesting one. Literally the words are "Do not give a place to the devil." Anger is a place where the devil does good work. Paul often references the work of Satan: in Romans, 1st & 2nd Corinthians, Ephesians, Colossians, 1st & 2nd Thessalonians, and 1st & 2nd Timothy. The message for us is: beware anger. It can be destructive. Satan can use it. Do not let the sun go down while you are angry.

~Stephen

"Sling and a Stone" by Emma Braswell

Based on 1 Samuel 17:40-49

"The Bible tells us that David defeated Goliath with just a sling and a single stone. That sort of mastery probably requires many hours of practice out in the pasture when he was young. My photo imagines what I think it would look like to watch the shepherd boy as he practiced."
