“My grace is sufficient for you,
for my power is made perfect in weakness” (2 Corinthians 12:9)

Thorn in the Flesh
Paul’s thorn in the flesh has been the subject of interest since the day Paul wrote about it in his 2 Corinthians letter. Our modern day interest in details about the life of famous people (royalty, film and pop stars) confirms that readers always want to “know exactly”, and the more shocking the details are, the more readers tend to lap them up. Suggestions over the millennia have been that Paul had a physical ailment of some kind: perhaps malaria or epilepsy, with most modern commentators opting for eyesight problems (see Galatians 4:13-15). Some scholars think the ‘thorn in the flesh’ was a person, or group of people, who intentionally opposed Paul and tried to make his life difficult. A further thought has been that the thorn was actually Paul’s conscience (that pricked him terribly for his violent treatment of Christians before the Damascus Road incident).

But all things considered, is it not best, and also most illuminating, that we do NOT know what Paul suffered from? The whole point is that we all have problems, ailments, temptations and things in our lives which we seriously regret. The principle that the grace of Jesus is enough to buoy us up and carry us along whatever our ailment or suffering is, is a magnificent and wonderful help to each and every Christian.

If you have seen The Chosen, there is a very touching scene in which Jesus does not heal Little James’ leg problem. James DOES understand in the end, and his struggle becomes ours; his comfort, and trust in Jesus, is ours.

My Grace is Sufficient
Jesus’ answer to Paul’s request for relief from his thorn in the flesh is a message all sufferers need to hear. Jesus does not minimize the frustration of Paul's weakness, nor does he take Paul's thorn away. Rather, Jesus promises to supply his ever-sufficient grace to aid Paul in enduring his trials. After several attempts to remove his thorn, Paul appears to find peace in knowing that his thorn (a) keeps him humble; (b) keeps him relying on the grace of Christ rather than himself; and (c) keeps him living in the strength of Jesus, who often works best through men's weaknesses.

Next time weakness makes us feel defeated, frustrated and alone, may we remember that God often does his greatest work in our weaknesses. "For when I am weak, then I am strong." (2 Corinthians 12:10). ~ Stephen

The Parable of the Wandering Sheep (Matthew 18: 10-14, NIV)

"What do you think? If a man owns a hundred sheep, and one of them wanders away, will he not leave the ninety-nine on the hills and go to look for the one that wandered off? And if he finds it, truly I tell you, he is happier about that one sheep than about the ninety-nine that did not wander off. In the same way your Father in heaven is not willing that any of these little ones should perish."
