A Cross Perspective in a Covid-19 World

On the subject of Coronavirus, there is plenty of information floating around about what you should do, how you should do it, and why you should do it. We all may react differently to the information we receive and our opinions are quite diverse. There is a sense of uneasiness all around us and within us. If this is not due to the disease, it is due to the economic and social troubles. Hopefully, we will resist panic and pride. Now is a time to be people of the cross.

If you can imagine the cross of Christ as holding visual instruction for people of faith, then you might see the vertical beam as confidence in God and the horizontal beam as compassion for others. Instead of panic, confidence rises up to God. Instead of pride, compassion is extended to neighbors. The two beams cross and are held together by charity (sacrificial love).

Ephesians 4:17—5:21 describes what being a people of the cross should and should not look like. Here is a collage of that passage, but please take time to read it as it was originally written by the apostle Paul.

What NOT to do: Do not act unwise, mindlessly, shamelessly, foolishly, or selfishly, excluding your thoughts from God. Don't be hard-hearted, calloused, or impure. Resist the deceitful desires to be greedy and to have more for yourself. Refuse to be unethical—lying, being bitter, being wrath-filled, greedy, stealing, cursing, or slandering others. Reject obscenity, crudeness, gossiping, and foolish joking. All of these are not to be heard of among Christians. They are ways in which we give the devil opportunity, and sadly, grieve the Holy Spirit.

Instead, DO this: Be renewed in your thinking as one who has been forgiven in Christ, created in the likeness of God's image, and filled with righteousness and purity. Be good, truthful, and reconciling with all. Be disciplined in your work so that you will have more for the purpose of giving to others. Be kind, compassionate, and forgiving. Imitate God's unfailing love and be willing to be a sacrificial servant, submitting yourself to God and others with humility. Pay careful attention to be wise by seeking God's will. Be people of praise, prayer, encouragement, and thankfulness. This is how you were taught by Jesus. These are ways in which we give Jesus our Messiah opportunity, and gladly, open ourselves to be filled with the Holy Spirit.

FAMILY NEWS & EVENTS

ANNOUNCEMENT

In accordance to the newest CDC guidelines we will not have Wednesday or Sunday services this week. We will keep you informed about any upcoming services. We do have individual communion packets with wafers at the church building if you need to stop by and get one.

Steve Powers will be hosting a Facebook Gathering meeting and Bible study tonight at 6:30. Follow our Facebook page "Northside Church of Christ – Harrison, AR"

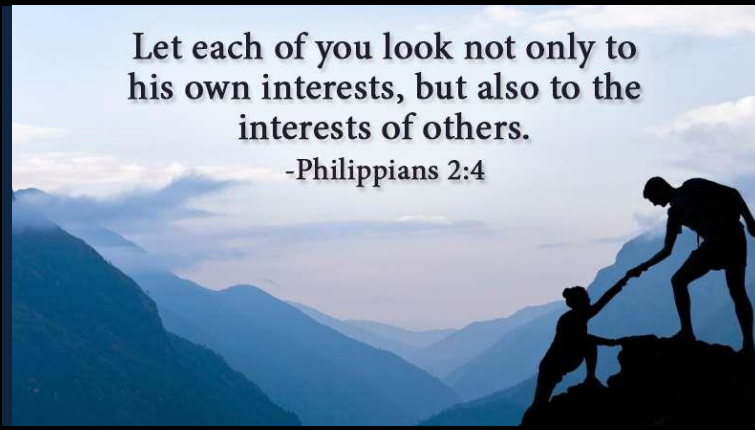

Better Together

We would like to reach out to our congregation and help anyone in need. If you are unable to get out, or know you should not be out. Call the church office (870)741-3092 or email office@northside.email. We will help you pick up groceries or necessities and have them delivered to you. Please allow 1-2 days for us to deliver.

If you would like to help do this and are able please call or email the office to have your name put on a list.

Let each of you look not only to his own interests, but also to the interests of others.

A Cross Perspective in a Covid-19 World

It is very tempting in a worrisome time to react in a way that does not reflect the image of Jesus. It is tempting to allow worry to hide our confidence in God and our compassion for others. We should not give evil the chance, but instead, we should give love its opportunity to shine. We may indeed worry about the virus and its extending effects while being a people of faith. Yet, through the worry, we can react in a way that permits God's Spirit to fill us with His goodness so that we will shine in faith, squelching any panic or pride.
