WHO ARE THEY?

Charles W. Fairbanks, James S. Sherman, Charles G. Dawes, Charles Curtis, John Garner.

Have you heard of any of these men? Do you know what office they all shared? To be fair, I used all men of the 20th Century rather than 19th Century.

The answer to the question is: they were all Vice Presidents of the United States. These men stood one step away from the Presidency, yet remain virtually unknown to most people. Here are a few notable facts about these “unknown” Vice Presidents.

Charles W. Fairbanks -- Fairbanks, Alaska is named after him; he served on a commission that helped settle the Alaska boundary dispute.

James S. Sherman -- his genial personality eased the workings of the House, so that he was known as 'Sunny Jim'. He was the first vice president to fly in a plane (1911), and also the first to throw out the ceremonial first pitch at a baseball game. Sherman is the most recent vice president to have died in office.

Charles G. Dawes -- For his work on the Dawes Plan for World War I reparations, he was a co-recipient of the Nobel Peace Prize in 1925.

Charles Curtis -- A member of the Kaw Nation born in the Kansas Territory, Curtis was the first person with any Native American ancestry and with acknowledged non-European ancestry to reach either of the highest offices in the federal executive branch. He is the highest-ranking enrolled Native American ever to serve in the federal government.

John Nance Garner -- known among his contemporaries as "Cactus Jack". He was also the 39th speaker of the United States House of Representatives from 1931 to 1933. One of only two individuals to serve as both vice president of the United States and speaker of the United States House of Representatives.

Who Are They?

Although these men never reached the top chair, we applaud them as Second Men -- working behind the scenes, notably accomplished, ready and willing to ascend to the Presidency, should the need arise. They made their mark on the world, and although forgotten by most, their influence lives on in the world they helped shape.

May the same be true of us. May we use our days upon the earth to influence the people in our sphere for good -- ready to step into anything that God has in store for us. History may forget us, but our Christian influence will live on in the people we have served and loved.

Dear Christian Family, I want to thank everyone for the cards, phone calls, well wishes and especially prayers that came my way as I recovered from eye surgery. Your concern was uplifting and much appreciated. With God’s help, I should have most of my eye sight back in a couple of months. It’s getting better every day. Thank you again for all the love, In Christian Love, Robin Haller

Announcements

Elder Announcement

We would like to announce that Northside is preparing to add additional Deacons at this time. The elders and present deacons feel that the work here is growing in a way that needs additional men, and that there are men among us that are well qualified and that have a heart for this service.

Our process for this will be much the same as it has been in the past. On June 13 and June 20, Steve will bring us Sunday lessons on the scriptural qualifications that must be met to serve as a deacon and the role these men have in the Lord’s church. After June 20th, the church will have an opportunity to submit the names of any men that qualify to the Elders for consideration.

We ask that you begin praying now that qualified men with a strong, daily commitment to serve our church will be identified, that Northside will grow spiritually and in number by their addition, that through the process we will remain unified, and that the Lord will be always be glorified.

There will be a Deacon meeting this Sunday @ 5 p.m.

Registration for VBS is available on the foyer table. Sign-up sheets to help with VBS and snacks are available on the bulletin board.
