Send Someone Else

"Then I heard the voice of the Lord saying, 'Whom shall I send? And who will go for us?' And I said, 'Here am I. Send me!'" (Isaiah 6:8).

The book of Isaiah opens with a dramatic heavenly scene in which Isaiah is confronted with a vision of God. Six-winged seraphs are flying over God's throne; and I like to think that the wings covering the seraphs' eyes shows us that God is too awesome, too wonderful, too resplendent for human eyes to be able to see; two wings are covering their feet, for our feet must always walk in the ways of God, not any path of our human choosing; and two wings are used for flying; we must use the gifts God gives us to do his will. When confronted with this scene of magnificent glory, Isaiah is immediately filled with a deep sense of his own unworthiness. But God allows his lips to be touched with the forgiving touch of an altar's burning coal, just as later God sends Jesus to be a similar cleansing fire for all of humanity. And so, Isaiah can now, indeed must now offer himself to God: "I will go for you, send me." This must also be our response when God asks if we will be his messenger.

In considering the great invitation given to Isaiah and his beautifully accepting response, it reminds us of the great invitation given to us. As with any invitation, there is always the tendency to reply, "Please send someone else." Years ago, the Acappella company produced a song with the lyrics, "Everybody said that anybody could do all the good things that nobody did." The message is clear:

Family News

Happy 51st Anniversary

Tim & Teresa Haynes

October 19th

Our sympathy is extended to the family of Ann Warren. Ann passed away Friday, October 11th. A Celebration of Life will be held Saturday, October 19th at Roller-Christeson. Visitation will be at 1:00 with the service beginning at 2:00.

Northside will be providing a meal for the family at 11:30 on Saturday. If you would like to help with the meal, the sign up list will be on the bulletin board or you may call Lisa Martin to ask what is needed.

THIS WEEKEND

in any invitation there is a tendency to excuse ourselves, looking around to all of the others who need to respond. Not only are we called to Christ's invitation to repent and be baptized, we are also called into service in his kingdom: to deliver the good news of Jesus to the world. How will we respond to the Lord's invitation? Send someone else or "Here am I, send me."

Dear Church Family,

We are beyond thankful for the cards and kind words following the passing of my mother. It is hard to lose both parents in six months. Your prayers mean so much and we feel the comfort only our Heavenly Father can provide.

The beautiful plant will be a reminder of how great it is to be a part of this church.

In Him, David and Mary Presley

Thank you!

I would like to say thank you for prayers, cards & best wishes. Love my family at Northside. In Christian love, Jodi Harra

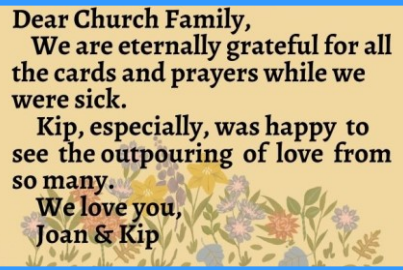

Dear Church Family,

We are eternally grateful for all the cards and prayers while we were sick.

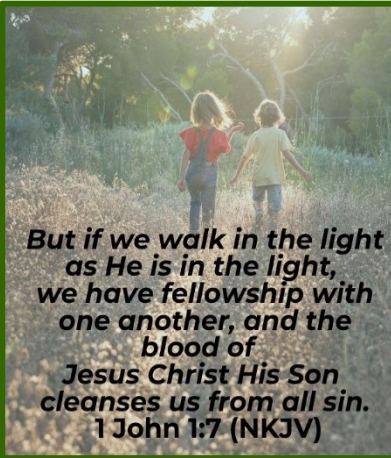

Kip, especially, was happy to see the outpouring of love from so many.

We love you,
Joan & Kip

But if we walk in the light as He is in the light, we have fellowship with one another, and the blood of Jesus Christ His Son cleanses us from all sin.
